

By: Nolan Key

The purpose of the database was to keep collection of wrestling promotions, wrestlers, and laws relating to wrestling promotions in order to give owners of wrestling promotions a greater idea of what they are permitted to do with their promotions, and certain wrestlers that may be working for other promotions.

The entities in the pro wrestling database are: wrestlers, promotion, wrestlerPromotionRelationship, laws, and promotionSpecificLegality. The wrestlers entity is for identifying wrestlers, and their contact information. The promotion entity is used for identifying what the promotion is, and specific parts of it (such as what arena they use and if they have a tv deal). The laws entity is used for identifying where the wrestling is being held at, and certain rules that are allowed in the area for general wrestling promotions. The wrestlerPromotionRelationship entity is used to describe a wrestler's relationship to a promotion, such as their pay for an event. A promotion can have multiple different wrestlers. Even though wrestlers can work for other promotions, it's very atypical so it won't be represented in this database. The promotionSpecificLegality entity describes legality pertaining to the specific promotion. Typically, promotions will stay in one city, so it describes the rules that the city places on the promotion.

The wrestler entity will have a one to many relationship with the wrestlerPromotionRelationship entity, and a many to one relationship, vice versa. The wrestlerPromotionRelationship entity will have a many to one relationship with the promotion entity, and a one to many relationship, vice versa. The laws entity will have a one to many relationship with the promotionSpecificLegality entity, and a many to one relationship, vice versa. The promotionSpecificLegality entity will have a many to one relationship with the promotion entity, and a one to many relationship, vice versa. The wrestlerPromotionRelationship entity is a bridge entity between the wrestler entity and the promotion entity. The promotionSpecificLegality entity is a bridge entity between the laws and promotion entity.